The town hall is in charge of a project to develop the Sainte-Radegonde spring, which has therapeutic properties. This workcamp is one of the first steps in the project to develop the site. For this first year of partnership, a group of international and national volunteers and young people from the Apprentis d'Auteuil association will work together on the construction of the well. You will be accompanied by the workcamp leaders throughout the work site to help you step by step in learning these techniques!
